Dear Sirs/ Mesdames,

Warm greetings again from the Professional Regulatory Board of Architecture ("PRBoA").

Thank You very much for publishing the PRBoA letter concerning
Mr. Ed Calma in the Opinion section of the May 26, 2007 PDI issue.

Recently, the attention of the reconstituted PRBoA was again called in regard to the appearance of a non-registered and non-licensed person going by the name Anton Mendoza, referred to as an "architect" with accompanying photos, in the above-referenced issues (see Attachments 1 and 2).

Please be advised that per the attached 13 March 2007 certification issued by the Professional Regulation Commission or PRC (reference Attachment 3), Mr. Mendoza appears to be neither registered nor licensed to practice architecture in the Philippines.
Under R.A. No. 9266 (The Architecture Act of 2004), its IRR and derivative regulations, Mr. Mendoza, as a non-registered person, may be held liable for use of the title "architect" or for the illegal practice of architecture if warranted.

In your future editions, may we request your writers to verify fully with the person/s the PDI shall feature as architect/s if such individuals are indeed registered and licensed to practice architecture in the Philippines. Your staff/ writers may ask for their PRC identification card/s as proof of registration and validity of license (and please take note of the registration number, the expiry date/s and the regulated profession stated) i.e. the PRC identification card must be one for architects and not for any other regulated profession.

In the case of foreign architects you will feature (including former Filipinos), you can ask for the temporary or special permit issued by the PRC, allowing such individuals to practice architecture in the country for a limited period. In the case of architectural firms you will feature, please ask for their SEC registration to confirm if seventy five percent (75%) of the architectural firm's ownership and management are held by registered and licensed architects.

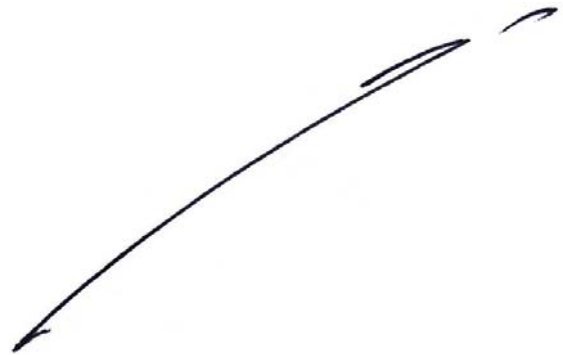

Otherwise, your writers/ staff may readily inquire from or secure a certification from the PRC Registration Division or from the SEC (in the case of firms) to fully ascertain the professional status of such persons (natural or juridical).

There is no need to publish this letter and its attachments as these are only furnished for your collective information/ future reference.

Thank You very much for your continuing support for Filipino architects and for the attention that you shall give the foregoing matters.

Yours sincerely,

For the PRBoA
